We are what we listen to that's the premise of this study of 100 songs that have shaped and defined the American experience from the colonial period to the present. Well-known music author James Perone looks at 100 songs that helped tell America's story. He examines why each song became a hit, what cultural and social values it embodies, what issues it touches upon, what audiences it attracted, and what made it such a definitive part of American history and popular culture. The chart-topping singles presented here crossed gender, age, race, and class lines to appeal to the mass American audience. The book discusses patriotic songs, minstrel music, and sacred songs and hymns, as well as music in the broad categories of pop, rock, hip-hop, jazz, country, and folk. An introduction provides an overview of the history and significant issues raised by the songs, as a whole. Individual songs are then presented chronologically based on when they were written. The revealing commentary for each hit is not only interesting and fun but reveals what it was like to live in the United States at a particular time by unveiling the social, economic, and political issues, as well as the musical tastes that made life what it was.
